

AHPA
CANNABIS
COMMITTEE
Est. 2010

We've Done
This Before.

If Your Business is Cannabis, You Need AHPA.

A detailed botanical illustration of a cannabis plant, showing various parts of the plant including leaves, stems, and flower buds. The illustration is rendered in a light green, semi-transparent style, overlaid on a white background. The leaves are serrated and have a palmate shape. The flower buds are shown in various stages of development, with some showing the characteristic trichomes. The illustration is numbered from 1 to 21, indicating different parts of the plant. The text "If Your Business is Cannabis, You Need AHPA." is overlaid on the illustration in a bold, orange font.

If Your Business is Cannabis,
You Need AHPA.

AHPA and Cannabis: Quick Facts

- The indispensable support we've provided to companies trading in herbs for decades is vital to the cannabis market.
- AHPA offers unmatched understanding of the FDA and its food and dietary supplement regulations, particularly pertaining to the hemp and CBD marketplace.
- The collective resources available to AHPA members includes significant regulatory and legal compliance expertise to help you protect and grow your company.
- AHPA's active advocacy in the regulatory, legislative, education, and technical aspects of moving cannabis into the legal marketplace spans nearly a decade.
- For 37 years, AHPA has been the only trade organization working exclusively with "herbs of commerce," helping members bring products to market in a highly regulated environment.
- The cannabis industry's most influential companies and legal partners are AHPA members.

Our Cannabis Track Record

The American Herbal Products Association (AHPA) is the only national trade organization that has embraced the cannabis industry as part of the herbal products marketplace, with all the advantages that experience provides. For the last 37 years, AHPA's mission has been to promote the responsible commerce of herbal products to ensure that consumers have informed access to a wide variety of herbal goods. And for nearly a decade, the AHPA Cannabis Committee has been actively involved in the regulatory, legislative, and technical aspects of moving cannabis into the legal marketplace.

The Right Cannabis Industry Connections

AHPA members include the most influential companies and legal partners working to ensure a stable, long-term cannabis industry. Whether you're growing and harvesting, processing, manufacturing, testing or marketing, our expertise provides crucial support from seed to sale. If your goal is to grow a sustainable business, join our community to help shape the future of the cannabis marketplace.

AHPA members participating in herbal identity testing workshop.

Up-to-date Industry Guidance

Confused about establishing and meeting specifications? No one knows this like we do. Companies in every step of the herb supply chain need technical assistance, advocacy, and up-to-date information. We're on it, and have been for decades. This guidance includes technical, regulatory, education, and advocacy components that benefit our members, and the entire industry, from compliance with label claims, Good Manufacturing Practices, and California's Proposition 65 to New Dietary Ingredient and Generally Recognized As Safe applications.

Cannabis Committee

Staff Contact: Jane Wilson, jwilson@ahpa.org

Web Page: <http://www.ahpa.org/AboutUs/Committees/CannabisCommittee.aspx>

AHPA Key Contacts

Michael McGuffin, President, mmcguffin@ahpa.org

Amber Bennett, Director of Membership Development, abennett@ahpa.org

Holly Johnson, Ph.D, Chief Science Officer, hjohnson@ahpa.org

Jane Wilson, Director of Program Development, jwilson@ahpa.org

Interior Photos: Steven Foster Photography

AHPA Cannabis Committee
Est. 2010

---

ahpa.org | ph. 301.588.1171 | email: ahpa@ahpa.org